President's Message

Apparently I got a little ahead of myself with the news about PayPal being set up on our website. The process requires some extensive changes to our site to allow for the different types of memberships. This includes things like electronic delivery, First Class Mail and Bulk Rate Mail. It also must allow for the different fees based on the time of the year the application/renewal is being submitted. It is expected to be completed by the end of the year, if not sooner. In the meantime, if anyone needs to use PayPal because they don't have a checking account or because they are overseas, I would be happy to handle that for you.

Allan Clapp has informed me that the Coil Line issues going back to 2000 are now searchable through our new system. Please try it out and let me know what you think.

As I mentioned before, Richard Beecher has taken over the Awards & Exhibits Committee. He has asked if there is anyone out there who plans to exhibit at any of the upcoming World Series of Philately Shows or APS Stamp-Show in the near future. If so, please contact Richard to let him know so that he can send the awards to the show chairman. He can be contacted at richardlater@aol.com.

Also, in this issue, we have our semi-annual club auction. This is a good place to pick up some unusual items and to fill some spaces at a lower price. But, you have to be a current member in order to participate. Check it out when you get a chance.

I am still looking for someone to help our Webmistress, Jill Ambrose, with adding the new information pages for the new issues. This is the time of year when several new PNCs are issued because of the change in the first-class mail rate. You don't need to be a computer expert, you just need to know your way around a computer and the internet. If there's anything special, Jill will be able to show you how to do it. So, if you are interested, please send Jill an email at jillambrose@zoomtown.com.

Letter From The Webmaster

Greetings, everyone,

To put it mildly, it has been an interesting time since my last letter to you. There have been some changes to the site. The major change is that we have a new site search engine available for anyone to use. Here are some details: this system searches not only the webpages but also the PDF files (including issues of Coil Line). Currently only Coil Line is-issues from January 2009 through the current issue are searchable.

In other news, I have received some requests to e-mail login credentials to members. Since the password is encrypted (scrambled) it is impossible for me to email the password. However, there is a way for you to get this information without my help. On the members' login page (below the login button) are two buttons: "Lost User Name?" and "Lost Password?" Clicking on the "Lost User Name?" takes you to a page where you provide your email address. Your Login User Name will be emailed to you.

The Lost Password page works the same way except the password sent to you is generated by the program. The reason is that the system cannot recover your password.

A question I have been asked by many members is "How do I access recent issues of Coil Line?" If you are looking for the current issue of Coil Line, there is a button for that. What you do is login to your account using your User Name and Password. After a successful login, a new button appears in the fourth place in the menu as "Current Issue Of Coil Line."

Here is the procedure for accessing other issues.

1. Login to your account.
2. Click on "Reference".
3. Click on "Coil Line Archives".
4. Click on the Year you are looking for.
5. Click on the Month you are looking for.

In closing, feel free to contact me with any questions, comments or suggestions for other features to add to the site. My email address is webmaster@pnc3.org.

A sincere welcome to Lynnette Wood, author of a new column titled, "Beyond the Numbers." Seeing my recent appeal about needing copy, Lynnette stepped up to the plate and became a contributor. Lynnette explains the concept behind her column:

"When I first started collecting PNCs, years and years ago, I thought it was just a question of collecting all the numbers. The first insight I had that there was more to it was learning about the peaks and valleys on the Flag Over Porch issue. As time went on I learned about line pairs, precancels, tagging, cobras and bells . . . the list goes on. I now search for all these varieties. Most recently, trying to fill blank spaces in the PNC3.org website's plate number coil singles album pages, I found even more varieties in my collection that I didn't even know I had!

"I thought others might be like me, especially some of the newer PNC collectors, and might be interested in a column that went "beyond the numbers" in a way that was somewhat systematic, somewhat historical, and always fun. And thus this column was created."

As the title of her column suggests, Lynnette will take a look at PNCs from a number of different angles. She goes "prehistoric" in her first column to tell us all about the time "before plate number coils."

I encourage all PNC³ members to write something for Coil Line. It doesn't require a commitment as large as Lynnette's. Just take 15 or 20 minutes to talk about a piece in your collection that's unusual, rare, unique or just interesting. Send me a couple of paragraphs and a scan of the item (300 dpi tiff, jpeg or PDF, please) then watch for the next Coil Line. It may take a village to raise a child, but it takes an entire membership to make a magazine.

I'd also like to feature a "Cover of the Month." The steps to submit a cover are the same. Scan it and write a paragraph or two about the cover. One of the most rewarding parts of any hobby is sharing what you have and what you know. Coil Line is the perfect vessel.

This issue of Coil Line includes an order form for PNC³ Catalog Chapters. It is located on the back of the wrap-per cover.

A new item is the 7th Edition (2017) of the PNC³ PNC Values List. It includes all 10 of the new PNC coil stamps issued during 2016 as well as those issued in prior years. A new feature in this edition is a column entitled "PS 7 and longer" to encompass median dealer prices for commonly collected longer strips where there are multiple designs in an issue.

A second new item is the 5th Edition (2017) of the Illustrated Glossary.

Rounding out new items are the annual update of the PNC-ID Cross Reference Indexes and the chapter for year 2016 New Issues.

The order form also lists chapters previously offered for sale, copies of which are in inventory.

Lastly, the items listed below are also in inventory, but the supply is limited. Contact me first (pnc3treasurer@gmail.com) before ordering the chapter to be sure your order can be filled.

Beyond the Numbers

PNCs Before There were Plate Number Coils

Prior to the advent of plate number coils, there was another type of PNC collection: that of philatelic-numismatic combinations. Jim Opperman, author of the 1985 publication, No Illusions Philatelic Numismatic Combinations Catalog, defines a philatelic-numismatic combination as "any stamped, postal service canceled (postmarked) card, envelope or other 'carrier' device which also contains a suitably mounted coin, medal or other 'numis' that commemorates a significant event or theme represented by both the stamp and the 'coin' item." According to Opperman, the hobby began with the first day of issue of the John F. Kennedy silver half-dollar.

The idea of combining coins and stamps on covers (envelopes) has been attributed to John Baker, who is said to have wanted proof that his were first-day-of-issue Kennedy half-dollars. By pasting a Kennedy half-dollar on an envelope and partially covering it with a stamp prior to cancellation, he was able to obtain that proof. (See <http://www.ocregister.com/articles/baker-35991-coins-john.html>). Baker subsequently launched a successful business selling coins on covers postmarked on their day of issue.

Although collecting philatelic-numismatic combinations (also called philatelic-numismatic covers) has lost much of its popularity in the United States, it continues to be quite popular in other countries. Many such covers can be found for sale in both the Stamps and in the Coins & Paper Money sections of eBay, as well as from many specialized dealers.

It was not until 1981, with the issue of the 18¢ Flag coil stamp, that the acronym PNC took on another meaning: plate number coil. It is, of course, this latter definition of "PNC" that will be the focus of this column. Each month, I will feature a PNC stamp or stamp series and highlight some interesting facts, history or other information about the stamps and their collectible varieties beyond just the plate numbers themselves. By defining technical terms, I will try to make the column accessible to the new PNC collector, but I will also try to include enough in the way of obscure facts and trivia to make it interesting to the most advanced PNC collector.

I look forward to your comments, input and even corrections (although hopefully not too many of the latter) and welcome suggestions for future topics. Please email me at PNCsAreCool@gmail.com.
